2013 Conservation Tree and Shrub Seedling Program Order Deadline: March 10, 2013

As a result of the destruction caused by Superstorm Sandy, the Conservation District has organized a plant sale to help the people of Nassau County install proper plant materials to replace those destroyed by the storm. Large numbers of trees were toppled by high winds and water throughout Long Island. Oaks, maples and conifers, native to our area, were the hardest hit trees since they happen to be the most prolific. Many open areas lost trees that will need to be replanted. The trees that are to be planted should be ones that will hold up to storms and not interfere with power lines. The large number of fallen trees left voided areas in the landscape of parks and preserves that can be filled once again with these native plants.

The following are native plants that will be available in the spring of 2013 to be planted by homeowners looking to replace plants in their yards, groups helping to revitalize parks and preserves, and landscapers working on areas that have lost full grown trees. These native plant species will benefit the natural environment of Long Island for many years to come.

- The trees and plants sold in this program are for conservation purposes.
- Order early so you get the species that you want. Quantities are limited and maybe subject to substitution.
- The Conservation District of Nassau County is not responsible for seedlings after acceptance of your order at the pick-up station, or for seedlings not picked up on the pick-up date. There are no refunds for orders not picked up.
- Please make check or money order payable to the "Nassau County SWCD" and mail to: 5 Old Jericho Turnpike, Jericho NY 11753.
- Please read all of the information carefully and choose the right tree or shrub for your specific needs. The trees and shrubs are sold in bundles of 10 each and the price listed is for one bundle. The plants are seedlings or transplants up to 24 inches in height.
